Pick of the best of

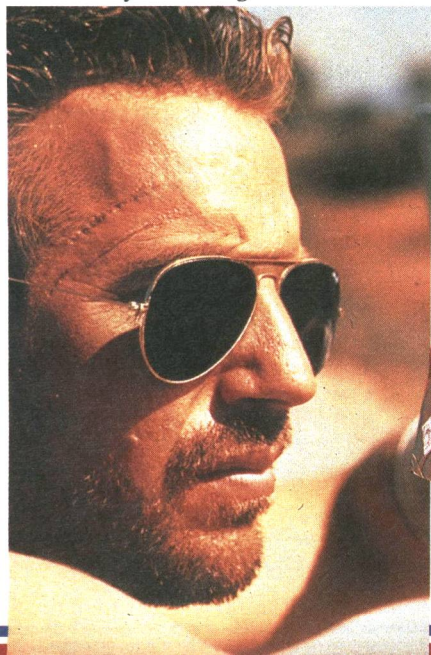

Christmas

The season kicks off to a blockbusting start with the delightful romantic comedy Pretty Woman. Pretty woman Julia Roberts earned herself an Oscar-nomination for her charming performance as Vivian Ward, a Hollywood Boulevard hooker whose life undergoes a bramble to rose transformation, when fate brings her together with multi-millionaire, Edward Lewis (Richard Gere).

A fairy-tale romance, biting wit, a wonderful selection of Rodeo Drive designer labels — this film's got the lot. Pretty Woman makes its British television premiere on Sky Movies Plus, Sunday, 1st December, at 8pm and repeats again at 8pm on Christmas Day.

If you're thinking of taking a longer break over this Christmas you might want to take a few tips for a really smashing time from

Chevy Chase (Clark Griswold) and the luckless Griswold clan. Brilliant visual gags abound in National Lampoon's Christmas Vacation, a third screen outing where the family choose to spend Yuletide at home. However, their quiet break soon turns into a fully-fledged festive fiasco as a variety of friends and relatives drop by. A Sky Movies Plus premiere, Saturday, 7th December, at 8pm.

Rutger Hauer takes time off the Guinness commercial set to star in this tremendously entertaining comedy-adventure, Blind Fury. Hauer is Nick Parker, an action hero who lost his sight while serving in Vietnam and presumed dead by fellow soldiers. Parker is rescued by kindly villagers who teach him to master the art of combat with a razor-sharp cane and to wield the instrument with a deadly, expert efficiency. Returning to the US, Parker is forced into service once again to save the son of an army buddy threatened by gangsters, prompting the sightless samurai into a treacherous cross-country adventure to deliver the youngster to safety. A Sky Movies Plus premiere on Saturday, 14th December, at 10pm.

John Candy stars as Uncle Buck, the wayward, accident-prone but well-intentioned blacksheep of the Russell family, who suddenly finds himself looking after his brother's three children — precocious six and eight year olds Maizy and Miles (Macaulay Culkin of recent Home Alone fame) and sarcastic, estranged 15-year-old Tia. A crash course in parenting and home-making are just some of the skills Buck is forced to brush up with hilarious ensuing results. A Movie Channel Premiere, on Saturday, 21st December at 8.15pm.

A splendidly scary and wickedly witty adaption of Roald Dahl's popular children's novel The Witches takes to the screen for a real Christmas Eve feast of magical mahem and demonic doings. Angelica Huston oozes venom and drips diabolical deeds in her portrayal of the gloriously grotesque Grand High Witch. Transformed into a mouse, can our young orphan, Luke, prevent the witches from carrying out their wicked plan to turn the entire child population of England into rodents? A wonderfully entertaining movie with tremendous effects. The Witches premieres on Sky Movies Plus, Tuesday, 24th December, at 6pm.

Where would you find a 40-foot tall blade of grass, a bee as large as a rhino, and a breakfast bowl the size of a swimming pool? The answer is on the set of Honey, I Shrunk The Kids, the hugely entertaining box-office smash which screens on Christmas Day. Rick Moranis stars as the mildly demented suburban inventor Wayne Szalinski, whose latest creation — an electro-magnetic shrinking machine — misfires, shrinking the Szalinski brood and the kids next door. The quarter-inch high gang are stranded at the bottom of the garden, faced with a teeming jungle full of ants, scorpions, water sprinklers and lawnmowers that are now gigantic and hazardous obstacles. A British television premiere on the Movie Channel, 25th December, at 6.15pm.

Mega-star Kevin Costner graces our screens this Christmas Day with the stylish romantic action movie, Revenge. Costner is Cochran, a Vietnam vet and Navy pilot who, having accepted an invitation by longtime friend Tiburon (Anthony Quinn) to visit his Mexican Estate, is drawn to Tiburon's beautiful young wife Miryrea (Madeline Stowe). Their mutual desire is discovered by Tiburon and Cochran is beaten and left for dead in the Mexican desert. Thus the scene is set for Cochran to make a startling recovery, rescue his new love and seek revenge on his old friend.

Revenge premieres on Sky Movies Plus on the 25th December at 10pm.

Nuns on the Run makes its British TV premiere on Sky Movies Plus this boxing day at 8pm. Eric Idle and Robbie Coltrane star as Brian Hope and Charlie McManus, a pair of bank-robbers who, on the run from the police, the gang they are trying to break-away from and the Triads they have just ripped off, seek sanctuary in a convent. Forced to disguise themselves as nuns, hilarious misunderstandings and near-discoveries abound.

Hooray for Harefield!

We recently arranged for Victoria Alford, Martin Hume, Lucy Parker and Andrew Coleman of Harefield School, Southampton to spend a wackadaysical fun day at the Carlton Television Studios, North London competing against Quintin Kynaston School, Westminster, in a brand new Children's Channel game show called Connect 4. Children's Channel presenter, Logan Murrey set the questions, and if answered correctly allowed the teams to place giant coins in a row, connecting four to win bonus points.

Our Southampton superbrains won two games in a row taking with them a host of goodies courtesy of The Children's Channel. Watch out for their smiley faces on television on 23rd January next year, on Connect 4.

Christmas

is for children

A sparkling festive film and programme line-up for children and the young-at-heart this Christmas starts with Prancer, the charming Christmas tale about a young girl who, separated from her father, finds inspiration in the miraculous appearance of an injured reindeer which she believes to be one of Santa's team. Nursing 'Prancer' back to health, she reunites with her father in time to return the majestic animal to Santa Claus — magical! Prancer premieres on the Movie Channel, Sunday, 1st December, at 6.15pm

Did you know that All Dogs Go To Heaven? Well they do in this delightful animated musical which follows the adventures, both celestial and earthbound, of Charlie B Barkin, a German Shepherd with a shady past (voice of Burt Reynolds). Double-crossed by underworld boss, pitbull Carface, Charlie is soon knocking at heaven's door, only to be turned away due to the lack of good deeds performed throughout his life.

Can Charlie make amends? It's all down to young orphan Anne-Marie who Charlie finds himself protecting and joining in a host of incredible adventures. All Dogs Go

To Heaven premieres on the Movie Channel on Sunday, 8th December, at 8.25pm.

Courage Mountain is a wonderful children's adventure following the story of Johanna Spyri's ever-popular character Heidi as a teenager. Heidi's boarding school in Switzerland sets the idyllic scene which is shattered with the arrival of the military to take over the school. Our hero soldier (Charlie Sheen) befriends Heidi and friends who set off on a risky expedition across the Swiss Alps in search of a safe haven.

Courage Mountain premieres on The Movie Channel on Sunday, 22nd December, at 6.15pm.

For the younger viewer The Children's Channel features a festive animated special everyday in Christmas week. On Christmas Eve it's Jingle Bell Rap, the story of a doggie rock'n'roll band (5pm). While on Christmas day at 5pm there's Santa Napped, a special Christmas episode of the very popular Potsworth and Co, and Blue Toes — The Christmas Elf, 5pm on Boxing Day.

Don't forget that December 2nd (5pm) is the start of the Super Mario Challenge finals.

Naughty Bart makes his mark!

WITH CHRISTMAS just around the corner, The Simpsons are planning their shopping spree, and Marge takes the kids to the mall to pick out their presents.

But when wayward Bart gets a tattoo, she has to spend the family's Christmas money on getting it removed, and then fall back on Homer's bonus to buy the kids' gifts.

Despite a profitable year, Homer's company decides not to give him a bonus, and so begins the wackiest Christmas ever, with the Simpsons resorting to desperate measures to assure their Christmas cheer. These include Homer doubling as Santa Claus and Bart betting on a hot favourite at the dogtrack. So if you'd like to spend Christmas with television's most outrageous family, turn to Sky One for a whiff of Simpsons Roasting over an Open Fire. ❄️

YEAR IN ... YEAR OUT ...

REMEMBER 'smart' bombs, Gennady Yanayev and John and Jill?

You should do because they have all been in the news in 1991.

Sky News is taking a look over its shoulder at the momentous events it has covered this year.

There was the 100-hour war, burning oil fields in Kuwait and cruise missiles turning at traffic lights on the way to their targets.

Beirut began to relinquish its Western hostages. These included John McCarthy, who received advice from Fleet Street on how to rekindle his relationship with Jill Morrell.

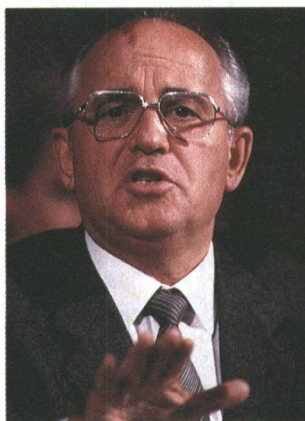

August saw Gennady and gang try and fail to oust Gorbachev in favour of good old hard-line Communism. Gorby and Bush went on to bin a few more megatons of nuclear arms.

Meanwhile, some of the year's major themes are still unfolding, like the recession, BCCI and Gazza's knee. ■

● Journey to nowhere

THE SCORCHING HEAT of the Australian Outback forms the backdrop to a gripping two-part series on Sky One starring John Waters and Rosey Jones. Alice to Nowhere tells of two jewel thieves who subject a girl and two men to a terrifying hostage ordeal in order to retrieve a necklace they secretly planted on the girl. As they travel deeper into the haunting emptiness of the Outback, it becomes clear that only two of them will return. ■

►► Sky One: Alice to Nowhere, starts Monday 16th 8.00pm ◀◀

All we want for Christmas is ...

JUST AS CHILDREN write to Santa Claus with present requests, so adults write to the Discovery Channel asking to see their favourite programmes again.

This year Jane Campbell, the Viewer Relations Co-ordinator, received so many requests that it was decided to parcel them up together and present them to Discovery's audience for Christmas.

One Londoner spotted her home town in Austrian Odyssey and asked for it to be reshowed for her children's benefit. The viewers' overall favourite was Great Planes, a series about the history of US airplanes and their impact on wars. The Viewers' Choice includes The Amazing Apes (24th 9.00pm), Great Planes (26th 5.00pm), UFO Cover Up (27th 5.00pm, 29th 11.00pm), Hollywood Confidential (30th 9.45pm), Jack the Ripper: the Final Solution (27th 9.00pm) and Austrian Odyssey (25th 5.00pm). ■

● Picturing China

CHINA IS a country that has maintained its cultural identity for 7000 years. Yet its styles, traditions and values have changed over the millennia in response to ideological influences that have seeped in from the outside world.

In Meishu - Travels in Chinese Art, Edmund Capon travels north from Shanghai to the Grand Canal, passing through the bleak north-western borderlands into the Central Asian desert in search of the essence of Chinese art.

The Forbidden City in Beijing and the greatest of the sacred mountains, Huangshan, have provided the inspiration for some of China's greatest painters. The three-part series, showing this month on The Discovery Channel, looks at the elements of the Chinese spirit and how it is reflected in the country's art. ■

CRACK REPORTER

JOINING SKY NEWS in 1988, anchorman David Glencorse has made more than 40 documentaries, ranging from an exposé of Chinese Triad gangs to an investigation into a loan shark ring, and from secretly filming the Beijing blood bath to filing reports from the frontline in Iraq and liberated Kuwait City.

'But,' he says, 'my most frightening experience was in a "crack" den in the Bronx. The drug barons allowed us to film them making the drug. A Puerto Rican dealer who was under the influence of crack held a gun to my head and said he was going to kill me. His eyes were staring mad. Luckily someone pulled him away and calmed him down.'

However, David remains philosophical. 'I knew before filming that it was going to be a dangerous situation,' he acknowledges, 'but that's the nature of the job.' ■

David blows his trumpet

David Kung Fu Carradine grew his hair and livened up his diction to play the lead in William Goldman's Mr Horn, a powerful Western mini-series directed by Jack Starrett. Carradine plays a US Army recruit hired to track down and capture the famous Apache warrior Geronimo in America's arid South West, ably assisted by Hollywood stalwart Richard Widmark. You wouldn't call him grasshopper. ★

▲ Have you ever wondered who that funny old bloke with the white beard is? No, not your Grandad, silly, Santa Claus. Dedicated followers of fashion

'YOU CANNOT define fashion,' says influential designer Karl Lagerfeld. 'As soon as you do it changes and you are out of fashion.'

Lagerfeld offers his blunt but entertaining views on style trends from Marie Antoinette to Madonna, whalebones to mini-skirts in the three-part series The Story of Fashion.

Rare film and photographs, artists, writers and photographers illustrate the programmes.

Inflaming the fans

Bruno Brookes and Helen Brumby, hosts of Sky TV's unique relationship game show Love at First Sight, are hoping to ignite flames of Yuletide love in the hearts of six lovely contestants.

The show has been exceptionally popular, and Helen and Bruno have each built a faithful following, particularly among teenage girls in Bruno's case.

It takes 35 people to produce this celebration of the attraction between the sexes, which has often been referred to as Sky television's answer to Blind Date.

The comparison is made, of course, because both shows involve matchmaking. But there the similarity ends, the major difference being that Love at First Sight contestants are not told what to say.

'The reason we don't script the show is that the researchers work so hard to find the right sort of people to be on it,' explains Helen. 'It's lots of fun for the contestants.' ♥

Prisoner of conscience

THIS YEAR'S Nobel Peace Prize winner is Aung San Suu Kyi. She couldn't receive the award in person because since 1988 she has been kept under house arrest by the military in Myanmar (formerly Burma).

Ms Suu Kyi, pictured right, called for a non-violent resistance to martial law. She is the general secretary of the National League for Democracy and was a political threat to the military government, which has killed hundreds of peaceful demonstrators. Adopted two years ago by Amnesty International, she is just one of thousands of prisoners of conscience all over the world whose cases are being highlighted by the best-known organisation for the defence of human rights.

Amnesty Unbound on The Discovery Channel looks at Amnesty International since it was founded 30 years ago.

How has Amnesty contributed to the spread of public awareness of prisoners' plights? What are the limits of its efficiency, and where has it failed? How does the organisation deal with difficult issues such as Nelson Mandela's advocacy of violence?

The film is starkly illustrated with disturbing footage of human rights violations. ■

▲ Jimmy Sommerville: a smalltown boy from Glasgow

See you, Jimmy

GLASGOW'S Jimmy Sommerville found success on London's gay circuit as front man for Bronski Beat, and soon rose to top ranking pop status. His falsetto voice, found as irritating by some critics as it was vibrant by others, became the band's trademark on hits like Why and their reworking of Gershwin's It Ain't Necessarily So.

In 1985 he quit 'because of the pressures of being a pop star', and then turned up in the politically oriented Communards with Richard Coles, enjoying chart success with You Are My World and Thelma Houston's Don't Leave Me This Way.

Jimmy has continued to top the charts with a stream of singles since the start of his career in 1984. Now, in The Jimmy Sommerville Special, he guides us through his years with Bronski and The Communards to his present fame as a solo artist. ■

Sitting pretty?

AS A GIRL in Georgia, Julia Roberts wanted stardom. Today she is 23 and commanding an eye-popping £4million a movie.

If she ever dared to dream of becoming the highest paid actress in the world, she surely never guessed it would bring her so much misery.

This summer her cancelled wedding to Kiefer Sutherland and the merciless pressure of being the vixen pursued by the media hunt pack saw her drop everything and flee to a hideaway in Dublin. Stop the world, Julia wants to get off.

It is five years since she set off in a battered Volkswagen seeking success in New York and just three since her first starring part in Mystic Pizza (for which she received £30,000).

Her next part was an acting education for Roberts when she starred alongside Sally Field, Shirley MacLaine, Olympia Dukakis, Daryl Hannah and Dolly Parton in Steel Magnolias. She learned well and received an Oscar nomination for Best Supporting Actress.

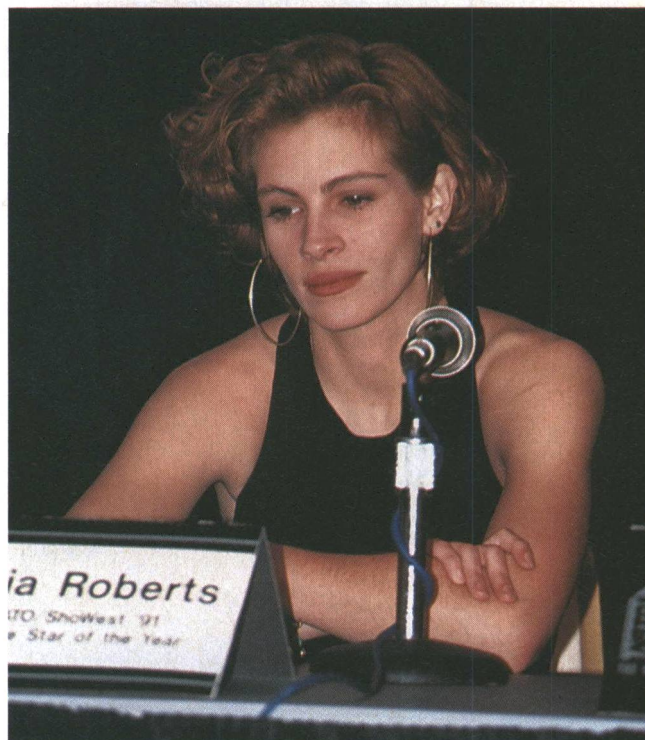

But it was with her third movie that Roberts stepped Julia Roberts is the biggest female star in the world today. The actress, whose Pretty Woman is premiered on Sky Movies Plus this month, wanted it all. But is it all too much for her?

on to the launch pad for the outer reaches of superstardom.

Not a great deal was expected from this romantic comedy about a prostitute and a Donald Trump-type businessman, played by Richard Gere.

But Pretty Woman became the world's top box-office smash of 1990, grossing $362million dollars to date.

▲ Julia Roberts: the glare of publicity has been a strain

Few people would now say, Who is Julia Roberts?

Her next role was that of a medical student in the horror flick Flatliners. Roberts's co-star Kiefer Sutherland was so attracted to her that he dumped his wife and baby to be with her.

'What can I say?' Roberts commented at the time. 'I'm head-over-heels in love with Kiefer.'

The wedding was announced. Originally it was to be a private affair but Roberts's studio bosses the richer partner during a divorce) that scuppered the wedding is not known.

But Roberts didn't wait to get to the altar to say, I don't; 72 hours before the ceremony she called it all off.

It was her second engagement to hit the rocks, the first being to her Steel Magnolias co-star Dylan McDermott.

The glamorous portraits of Roberts that seemed to adorn every magazine cover were being replaced by voyeuristic press snaps of a tired and drawn star trying to avoid the limelight.

Having had her sojourn in Dublin she is now working on Steven Spielberg's epic Peter Pan movie, Hook. But even here she is reported to be having a hard time filming her fairy character, Tinker Bell.

Roberts's exposure has been cruelly out of proportion to her achievements on film. With just six movies behind her — the most recent being Sleeping with the Enemy and Dying Young — she has eclipsed gifted performers like Meryl Streep and Michelle Pfeiffer in the league of money. But only Pretty Woman can be said to be a bit special.

Roberts has been lucky. But the toll of living up to her box-office bankability has not been the stuff that dreams are made of. ■

JULIA LOSES HER FIGURE!

Some women may look at this photo and think, I wish I had a body like Donna Scoggins. That's right, Donna Scoggins. It's been claimed that this poster promoting Pretty Woman is a fraud. Hollywood was shocked by the suggestion that advertising executives felt Julia Roberts's body — 42-inch legs and all — was not ravishing enough and had secretly superimposed a photo of her head on to the body of unknown model Donna Scoggins. Scoggins's agent and another model (Shelley Michelle, who stood in for Roberts during her sexy scenes) both claimed the public had been hoodwinked. The admen certainly altered Richard Gere's appearance: in the poster he has dark hair, in the film it's grey. Disney's Touchstone films, which made the movie, offered no comment.

Sky Movies Plus: Pretty Woman, 1st 8.00pm, Christmas Day 8.00pm and 29th 8.00pm.

offered to make it a traditional Hollywood extravaganza, plenty of glitz and a cast of thousands.

Suddenly everything was getting out of control. Roberts seemed desperate to hide from the adulation. She cut her reddish hair and dyed it blonde as a disguise. Then she was admitted to a Los Angeles medical centre. She was suffering from fatigue, it was said.

Press stories emerged about Kiefer having an affair with a stripper. Whether it was these tales or the rumoured refusal of Sutherland to sign a pre-nuptial agreement (protecting

▲ Anjelica Huston after make-up (and not before, we hope)

Better watch out, Witches are about!

APPEARING ON Sky Movies this month is Oscar-winning Anjelica Huston, who stars in The Witches.

She plays the malevolent Grand High Witch, who plots to rid the country of children.

Out to foil her wicked plans are nine-year-old Luke, played by newcomer Jasen Fisher, and his grandmother Helga, better known as Swedish actress and novelist Mai Zetterling.

This frightening and funny film, which is based on a Roald Dahl story, is packed with incredible special effects from the late Muppet man Jim Henson. Director Nicolas Roeg said, 'Two of my children are very young and I very much wanted to make a film for them. The Witches seemed just right.'

Meanwhile, Huston will be appearing as Morticia Addams, the deliciously malicious matriarch in the new big-screen version of The Addams Family, set for release this Christmas. ■

Putting football on ice

BRITISH FOOTBALL'S decision to pile on the fixtures just when the winter has the habit of turning nasty is an attitude that cuts no ice on the Continent.

The FA Cup, the Rumbelows Cup, the Zenith Data Systems Cup and the League, along with their Scottish counterparts, start to hot up just when the weather usually chills out.

And if it's a bad December/January, it causes an horrendous backlog of matches that can affect trophy prospects.

Tottenham Hotspur have even had to play a preliminary round in the European Cup-Winners Cup and are already three League matches behind many other sides.

But it's not like this elsewhere in Europe. As viewers of the Italian and German leagues find out this month, they take a break. The last 1991 German match to be seen on Sky Sports is on 13 December (resumes 7 February), while the last Italian game is on 15 December (resumes 5 January). And that pattern is repeated throughout Europe.

When it's remembered that these leagues also have fewer teams in them (Germany 20, Italy 18) than England's (22), it's a wonder the home teams ever emerge from the dark months to conquer European competitions.

However, given the English teams' record abroad all of this may be cold comfort to the Continentals! ■

College boys bowl you over!

US COLLEGE football provides some of the most spectacular and unrestrained emotion on the American sports scene.

If you've been to a Liverpool-Everton soccer game then you can guess at the best college-game atmospheres — just turn up the volume and add a constantly playing marching band in the crowd!

Boy-girl groups of cheerleaders perform acrobatics while team mascots (from knights in armour to goats and panthers) provide another little bit extra.

Throughout December top teams like Notre Dame are going flat out to maintain top form. The most impressive ones appear in a series of bowl games that decide their season's standing.

Of the 16 or so bowl games four are considered the elite: the Rose, Orange, Peach and Cotton. The National Championship will normally be decided at one of these although the Fiesta Bowl has become a contender recently.

Screensport will be following the gridiron college action throughout December and will show the Orange Bowl live next month (on New Year's Day).

▲ Rick Moranis as the slightly crazed inventor experimenting in his low-tech lab

De Niro's last laugh!

● IN ANY HISTORY of film comedy Robert De Niro would get a tiny entry.

Of this explosively intensive star one critic said, he 'is not, to put it mildly, the American actor most closely associated with laughter'.

In Taxi-Driver he goes beserk and carries out a blood-bath. In Raging Bull he's a boxer who uses his wife and brother as punchbags. In Angel Heart he's the devil. What a joker!

So De Niro raised a few eyebrows when he made We're No Angels in 1989.

True, he had had a chuckle-inducing cameo in Brazil. And he had been praised in the funny buddy movie Midnight Run with Charles Grodin. But We're No Angels was all-out comedy.

In it De Niro and Sean Penn play a couple of dim-witted escaped convicts who disguise themselves as priests. In their ensuing misadventures Penn has a tentative romance with Demi Moore (tentative because of his supposed vows of celibacy).

De Niro's next performance is in one of 1992's most anxiously awaited films. It is Martin Scorsese's Cape Fear, which stars Robert Mitchum, Nick Nolte, Gregory Peck and Jessica Lange.

De Niro plays a sadistic psychopath . . .

That shrinking feeling!

If you feel big and bloated after your Christmas Day meal, Rick Moranis has a machine that could cut you down to size

● DISNEY executives must have thought small is really beautiful when they counted the box-office takings for their 1989 movie, Honey, I Shrunk the Kids.

They had reworked a hackneyed storyline – what would happen if the characters were miniaturised to the size of ants? – and made it walk tall again.

So how were small characters made to equal big box office?

The on-screen family humour plus special effects that make The Incredible Shrinking Man and Fantastic Voyage look amateur must take the credit.

Honey, I Shrunk the Kids is about an suburban inventor, played by Rick Moranis, who makes a shrinking machine – much to the ridicule of his neighbours. The contraption misfires and belittles not only his children but those of the neighbours.

Making a land-of-the-giants set for them to get lost in required 25000 gallons of mud, 16000 gallons of artificial milk and the world's largest cream cookie (made from a sumptuous recipe of polyurethane foam and real cream).

Some of the most thrilling scenes involve the enormous bee that takes two of the boys for a ride and the ant that befriends the group.

Minatures technician Peter Anthony Zamora said: 'We wanted audiences to think of the ant as they would a character, so we designed the antennae to move in ways that communicate feelings and emotions.'

Disney will try to repeat their success with the release of Honey, I Blew Up the Baby next summer. ■

The Candy man

JOHN CANDY went over big with the cinema audiences of Uncle Buck.

The 1989 comedy was such a smash hit that it earned the Toronto-born actor the grudging tabloid titles of 'Uncle BIG Bucks' and 'Hollywood's Bankable Fatty'.

Candy had featured in a few forgettable movies before Uncle Buck boosted his career. The one exception to the dross was Planes, Trains and Automobiles, in which Candy excelled as the overbearing chatterbox who forces himself on uptight executive Steve Martin.

The movie's director, John Hughes, followed it by writing a screenplay especially for Candy. The result turned out to be Uncle Buck.

In it Bob and Cindy Russell are called away from home and must find someone to look after the kids. In desperation they turn to the bumbling blacksheep of the family, Bob's brother Buck (played by Candy).

The dreaded uncle is an accident-prone bachelorette who causes chaos, wrestling with the washing machine, overfeeding the dog and gambling on the children's games with a delivery man.

One of the kids, Macaulay Culkin, also features in Hughes's Home Alone, the highest-grossing comedy ever. Culkin steals the show in Uncle Buck with his interrogations concerning Buck's personal life. ■

● NUN OTHER THAN ERIC AND ROBBIE!

TOP BRITISH comedy stars Eric Idle and Robbie Coltrane turn up on Sky Movies Plus as a couple of bank robbers who have nicked a million from the Chinese triad gangs and then hide out in a London convent dressed up as nuns.

Nuns on the Run was shot entirely on location in the London garden suburb of Bedford Park, where residents found themselves exchanging their once peaceful surroundings for a sudden influx of gangsters, guns and exploding cars. Even Robbie Coltrane was probably glad to get back to the tranquility of his farm cottage retreat near his native Glasgow.

The movie was written and directed by Jonathan Lynn, best-known to the British public for his work on Yes, Minister and Yes, Prime Minister. ■

▶ Blue for you

IT WAS JUST six years ago that director Jean-Jacques Beineix saw Beatrice Dalle's picture in a photographer's window and cast her in the lead role in Betty Blue.

Adapted from the novel by Philippe Dijan, the story is a simple one: Dalle plays a waitress who indulges her animal attraction for Zorg (nice name), an odd-job man played by Jean-Hugues Anglade, who turns out to be a literary genius.

The light-hearted but tragic Betty and her zestful love left their mark on thousands of admirers around the world, although some spectators found the whole thing completely over the top. Mademoiselle Dalle still insists that the only thing she enjoys about film-making is when they switch off the camera and everyone goes home! ■

movies that give CHRISTMAS PRESENCE

WIZARD OF OZ

Yellow Brick Road in the magical
Wizard of Oz (1st December).

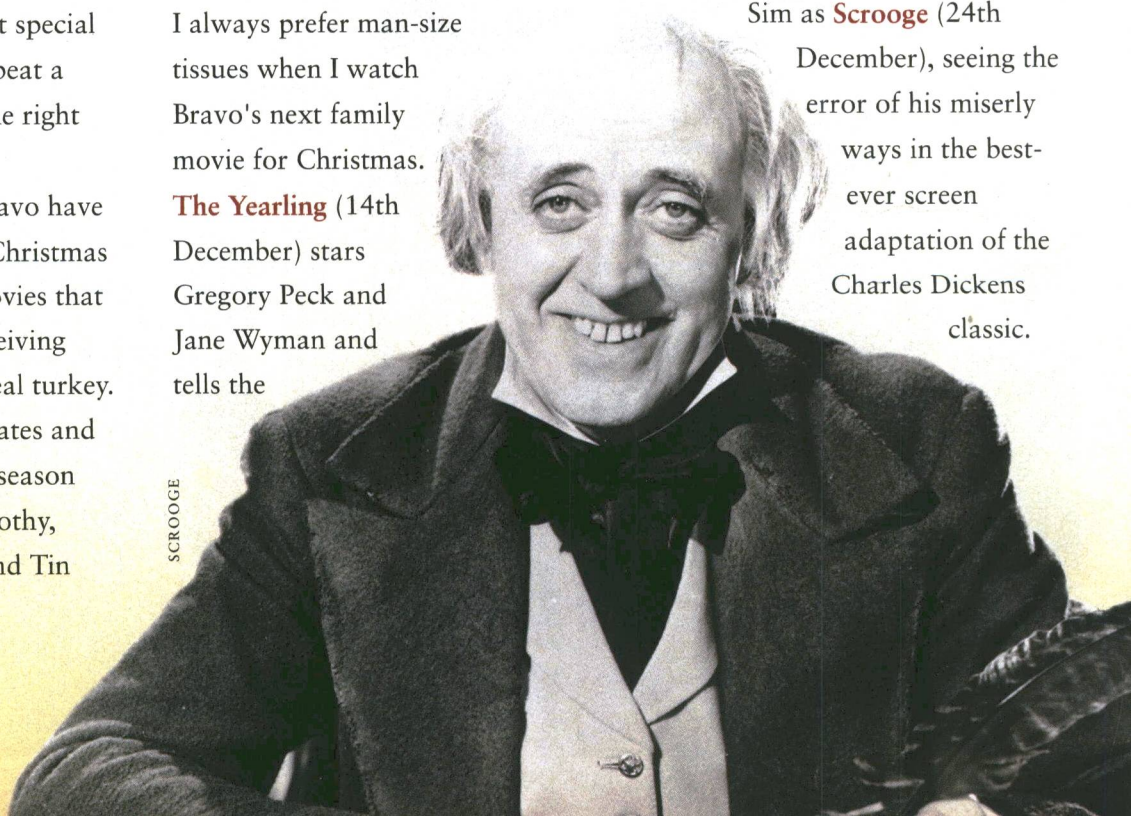

I'd go without stuffing any day, just to hear Judy Garland sing 'Somewhere Over the Rainbow'. Would first-choice Shirley Temple have made such a wonderful job of it had Twentieth Century Fox agreed to loan her to MGM?

Even more evergreen than the holly and the ivy, for that special festive feeling you can't beat a classic movie to create the right mood.

That's obviously why Bravo have come up with four real Christmas crackers...the kind of movies that make the pleasure of receiving socks and aftershave a real turkey. So settle back with the dates and mixed nuts, because the season starts early with the Dorothy, Toto, Lion, Scarecrow and Tin Man et al, following the

I always prefer man-size tissues when I watch Bravo's next family movie for Christmas. The Yearling (14th December) stars Gregory Peck and Jane Wyman and tells the heart-wrenching story of a young country boy's attachment to a pet fawn... poor deer. Sensitively handled with some lovely performances.

THE YEARLING

There will be tears galore in Jimmy Stewart's classic It's a Wonderful Life (7th December) - a bittersweet comedy about a man prevented from committing suicide by an angel who persuades him what a good chap he really is. Moving stuff.

IT'S A WONDERFUL LIFE

And no self-respecting Christmas could be complete without Alistair

Sim as Scrooge (24th December), seeing the error of his miserly ways in the best-ever screen adaptation of the Charles Dickens classic.

But if you like a good laugh at Yuletide, there are chuckles by the sack-full in Bravo's Comedy Double Bills.

Bob Hope stars in The Lemon Drop Kid (12th December) based on a story by Damon Runyan - an amusing romp in which an incompetent bookie is being harassed by gangsters. Seasonal reminders to be found in the memorable Santa Claus sequences.

And to complete the bill, there's more Hope, plus glory in the generous shape of Jane Russell, in Son of Paleface, a non-stop comedy also starring the astonishing Roy Rogers and the talented Trigger.

The Gazebo (19th December) is an off-beat black comedy with a back yard twist, starring Glen Ford, Debbie Reynolds and funny man Carl Reiner. This is shown with Crooks Anonymous, in which Leslie Phillips, Stanley Baxter, Julie Christie and the elegant Wilfrid Hyde-White star in the tale of a petty thief who joins an organisation for reforming criminals... without great long-term success.

On Boxing Day, the inimitable Peter Sellers stars in his own double bill, starting with the highly recommended I'm All Right Jack, in which Sellers is priceless as union leader Fred Kite, alongside a brilliant supporting cast including Terry Thomas, Ian Carmichael, Richard Attenborough, Irene Handl and Margaret Rutherford. Frighteningly funny.

In Two Way Stretch (26th December), Sellers stars alongside

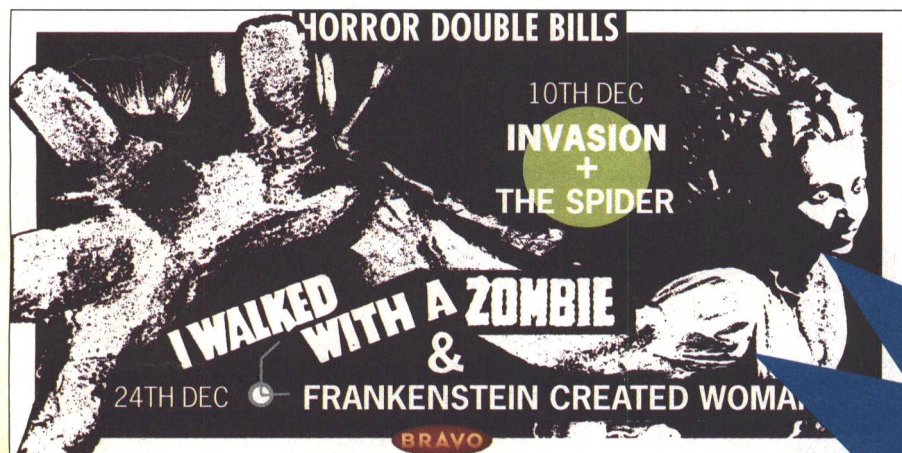

CROOKS ANONYMOUS

Lionel Jeffries and Bernard Cribbins as convicts who break out of jail to rob a Maharajah and then break back in again to provide the perfect alibi. Good wheeze.

And finally, for the sake of auld lang syne, look out for your choice of movies for New Year's Eve. Meanwhile, have a good one...eat, drink and be careful and I'll see you in the queue in '92.

● SOMEWHERE OVER the rainbow there was so much hell-raising and mayhem that it is a wonder The Wizard of Oz became the legendary success it did.

Randy Munchkins, hospitalised stars and a ballooning budget made the movie a trauma to shoot.

The 124 midgets that played the Munchkins turned out to be so debauched that they made the Wicked Witch of the West look like a nun.

Oz producer Mervyn LeRoy

THE WIZ BIZ!

said: 'We had a hell of time with those little guys.'

'They got into sex orgies at the hotel. We had to have the police on every floor.'

Judy Garland was not charmed by them either: 'They were drunks. They got smashed every night.'

When the Wicked Witch had to vanish in a puff of smoke, actress Margaret Hamilton was nearly incinerated and needed six weeks' hospital treatment.

Ten screenwriters and four directors were hired and fired.

Even Judy Garland was not MGM's first choice for Dorothy. Shirley Temple and Deanna Durbin were the studio's favourites.

The production went a third over budget and was also long. One musical sequence, The Jitter Bug, was chopped.

Greater disaster loomed when MGM boss Louis B Mayer decreed that Over the Rainbow had to go too. Producer Arthur Freed pleaded for weeks until it was reinstated.

All to no avail! The critics sneered at it and Oz lost a lot of money on its release.

It was the television generation that took the film to heart. In the States, in particular, it has been shown repeatedly at prime time and always to impressive audiences. ■

I sentence you to 'Life'

IF YOU HEARD that a judge had sentenced a wife-killer to watch a film, you'd probably assume it was a horribly punishing production to view.

But It's a Wonderful Life is really one of the most uplifting and magical movies ever made, which is why the judge chose it.

The accused was a 77-year-old pensioner in Florida who stabbed his wife after she begged him to kill her because she feared she was going insane. He then tried to commit suicide.

The judge felt watching It's a Wonderful Life was part of a punishment that fitted the crime because the 1946 film was about never giving in to despair.

James Stewart plays George Bailey, a man who has tried to make a decent small-town living but attempts suicide when he feels he's failed his family. A novice angel is dispatched to show Bailey how grim life in the town would have been without him.

The film is a masterpiece that leaves the viewer happy.

Millions have watched it and loved it. When an American TV network inadvertently showed a version of it cut by 40 minutes' 3500 viewers phoned in to complain.

Incidentally, the Florida pensioner also received 30 days in jail. ■

HALLOWEEN HAS given way to the season of goodwill. But the dark winter nights still belong to ghouls, as Hammer favourite Peter Cushing (pictured right with Susan Denberg) demonstrates when he returns to the screen in Frankenstein Created Woman. This 1966 chiller tells of an attempt to create a gorgeous woman from a deformed creature.

Yule ghoul

Val Lewton's I Walked with a Zombie has a nurse played by Sandra Dee caring for plantation owner Tom Conway's somnambulist wife. It's one of Hollywood's most imaginative low-budget classics. Edward Judd, Valerie Gearon and Tsai Chin face Invasion in a British sci-fi suspenser made in 1966. The sense of threat is almost tangible but a minus point is the film's portrayal of the aliens as friendly orientals. ■

Christmas Season

Classics feature on cable this Yuletide, starting with a series of tales from the bard himself. Yes, Shakespeare is this month's buzz word on Super Channel with Henry IV, Henry V and Richard II all putting in declamations from the days of yore.

Not surprisingly, Christmas is the subject of more old favourites on Bravo, in the form of It's A Wonderful Life, Frank Capra's endearing tale about a man in dire straits who learns that there is more to life than he thought, and The Wizard of Oz, in which Dorothy and her raggedy companions set off once more in search of the Emerald City and its mysterious ruler.

The goodwill continues on Sky Movies Plus in A Christmas Story, the tale of a young boy's attempts to get the right present on the day, and Natalie Wood stars with cuddly Edmund Gwenn and John Payne in the enchanting Miracle on 34th Street on The Movie Channel.

Meanwhile the festive season takes a turn for the macabre on HVC with Silent Night Deadly Night 2, a psychotic Santa Claus killer film starring Eric Freeman and James L. Newman.

So with 528 films to choose from, you're sure to have the very merriest of Christmases on Cable.

Today's Choice

8.00 pm Bravo. The Wizard of Oz. L. Frank Baum's classic childrens' fairy tale that keeps adults spellbound. Dorothy and her raggedy companions set off once more to find the legendary Emerald City and its mysterious ruler. MGM originally wanted Shirley Temple for Dorothy, but Twentieth Century Fox wouldn't loan her. And Scarecrow Ray Bolger was originally cast as the Tin Man, but swapped roles with Buddy Barnaby Jones Ebsen who was to have been the scarecrow. Then Ebsen became ill because of the metal paint and was replaced by Jack Haley. It's tough at the top.

Ernest Saves Christmas.

Ernest P. Worrell, the well-meaning but disaster-prone children's hero, teams up with Santa Claus to reaffirm people's faith in the season of goodwill, something that has been eroded by cynical commercialism in recent years. Charming and good-natured, with plenty of fun and visual effects for the kids, the film is perfect Yuletide fare for the whole family.

					10.00pm The Discovery Channel. The Story of Fashion. From Marie Antoinette to Madonna and from whalebones to mini-skirts, The Story of Fashion follows the modes and changes that have swept the centuries. Influential designer Karl Lagerfeld offers his entertaining, if not always objective views on the subject. Rare film clips and photographs, artists, writers and photographers illustrate the fashion phenomenon of which Cocteau once said 'One must forgive it, it dies so young'.

9.00pm The Discovery Channel. Meishu - Travels in Chineses Art. China: a country with a vast terrain which has maintained its cultural identity for seven thousand years. How have its traditions, styles and values changed over the millennia, and what ideological influences have broken through from the outside world? From Shanghai north to the Grand Canal, through the bleak north-western borderlands into the oblivion of the Central Asian Desert, Edmund Capon goes in search of the essence of Chinese art.

 l i f e s t y l e	INDRA DHNUSH			THE MOVIE CHANNEL	Today's Choice 9.50pm Super Channel. Henry IV (Part 1). The second in a series of modern adaptations of Shakespearian history plays, brought to life with a gritty reality by director Michael Bogdanov. Henry Bolingbroke is now King Henry IV, and finds the crown for which he fought weighs heavier than he had anticipated. Meanwhile his young son, Prince Hal spends all his time in alehouses mixing with bawdy characters, demonstrating that the generation gap was with us a lot earlier than the 1950s.

Today's Choice

11.00pm The Discovery Channel. Amnesty Unbound.
This informative but sometimes disturbing programme examines the 30 years since the foundation of Amnesty International and its action against the violation of human rights. How has Amnesty International contributed over this time in the spreading of public awareness? What are the limits of its efficiency and its failures? How does the organisation deal with difficult issues such as Nelson Mandela's recommendation of the use of violence? Starkly illustrated with strong footage, this film shows how far we still have to go in the fight for human rights.

Today's Choice

1.50am Bravo. I Walked With A Zombie. In this classic shudder show from Val Lewton, a Canadian nurse (Frances Dee) is hired by a Caribbean planter (Tom Conway) to care for his sick wife. Little does she know that the woman is really a zombie under the voodoo influence of the sinister Carrefour. Eerie sentinels stare blankly against the din of incessantly beating tom-toms as Conway's somnambulistic wife wanders around in a clingy shift.

GILAD TAKES YOUR BREATH AWAY!

▲ Gilad meets members of England's Rugby World Cup squad.

● SOME KEEP-FIT enthusiasts deride aerobics as nothing more than a lot of prancing about in leotards to a disco beat.

Screensport's new 'trainer to the stars', Gilad Janklowicz, disagrees.

This is a man who has knocked platoons of soldiers into shape using music. He has taken on the Terminator himself, Arnold Schwarzenegger.

Now his well-sculpted 37-year-old form is to be found on cable screens pushing viewers through his special fitness regimen.

Janklowicz, a former Israeli decathlete, told Cable Guide: 'My show is training done to music rather than to dance.'

'I'm a former athlete not an ex-dancer and I combine a lot of athletic training with aerobics in the show.'

He lives in Hawaii, which is the backdrop to his workouts.

'There are beaches, palm trees and sunsets. I feel the music and the setting are an inspirational part of the programme.'

Each day Janklowicz concentrates on a different part of the body. Body toning, stamina and aerobics all feature. 'I say to viewers, Do what you can. I don't condemn them for not doing it every day. The idea is to appeal to both people in and out of shape.'

It was while completing national service in Israel in 1972 that Janklowicz became a fitness instructor, leading 2000 to 5000 troops at a time.

Janklowicz was a decathlon champion in Israel and went to the USA to train for the 1980 Olympics, but an Achilles injury ended his career.

It was the time of the aerobics boom. Janklowicz started conducting workouts and, being opportunely placed in Los Angeles, attracted a number of celebrities, like Priscilla Presley, Olivia Newton-John and Arnie.

'Schwarzenegger was getting ready to shoot Conan the Barbarian. He'd just won his sixth or seventh Mr Universe title.'

'He was bulky and very developed and wanted to shed a few pounds to become quicker in his movement.'

'He came down to my class. He was very determined. Each week his show is watched by up to a million viewers in the USA.'

He's become a celebrity. His post bag bulges with fan mail and even the occasional offer of marriage. One way or the other, he seems to get some viewers panting for the wrong reasons. Coincidentally, ladies he got divorced 10 years ago. ■

OFFER
50 PIECE FARM
SET (SEE BELOW)

Not available from us at this price in any store. These electric trains will not be sold at this price or any price by the company in any store. There is a limit of two (2) sets per address at this price.

But if your request is mailed early enough (within 21 days) you may order up to 7 enough to build a "super-system" that will turn friends green with envy. Every set covered by the company's full one-year money-back guarantee. (This does not affect your statutory rights).

Axiom (Dept. 75-3), Harrington Dock, Liverpool X, L70 1AX.

We will "give-away" our best-selling set of battery operated electric trains - the nationally advertised GFX™ TRANSAMERICAN GOLDEN EAGLE FLYER™ for the astonishing price of only £5 each to all those who respond within 30 days.

These are the same GFX "GOLDEN EAGLE" electric train sets nationally advertised in leading media throughout America. They are the fastest-selling set of electric trains currently being sold by a multi-million-dollar firm. Yet your price is just £5 for the complete set.

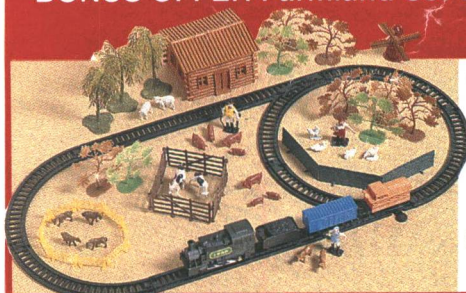

You control every operation with a flick of your finger

You can couple the cars or uncouple them, switch locomotive power on or off - all with easy finger action. Able to run continuously for hours on just one ordinary alkaline "AA" torch battery (not included) the entire set is so easy and safe to operate that it is manufacture-rated for children as young as age 3. (That is, if they can get it away from Daddy!)

Each set includes an independently battery powered turn-of-the-century locomotive - pulling a coal tender, boxcar and caboose. Also included are 8 sections of modular track and a dual position lever-switch that shunts the entire train from track-to-track and from curve to straight.

The total track area circumscribes an impressive 240square inches in area. But you can make it bigger —much bigger. That's because the track is modular, so you can put two or more sets together, creating huge "super-systems" with multiple trains running at the same time. Please allow 28 days delivery.
